

TARA GOES TO THE BEACH

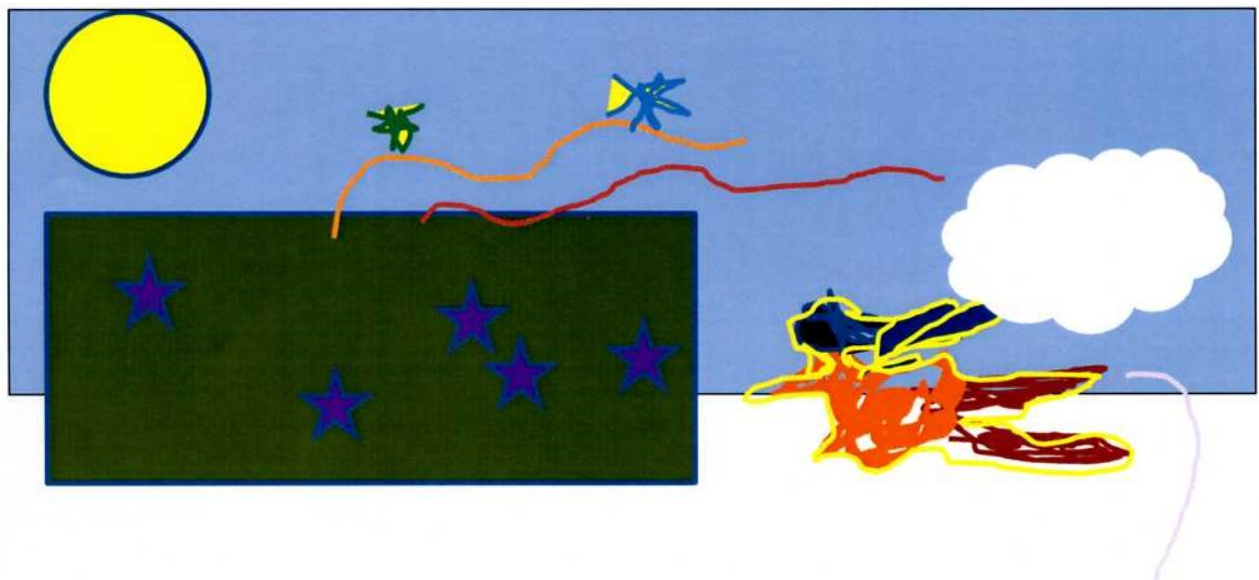

One day Tara was leaving her house when she looked on her porch. She looked at a ladybug on her porch. It was her friend, Dotty. “Hi Tara,” Dotty said to Tara. Tara said, “Hi, Dotty!” Dotty asked if Tara would like to go to Fairyland Beach.

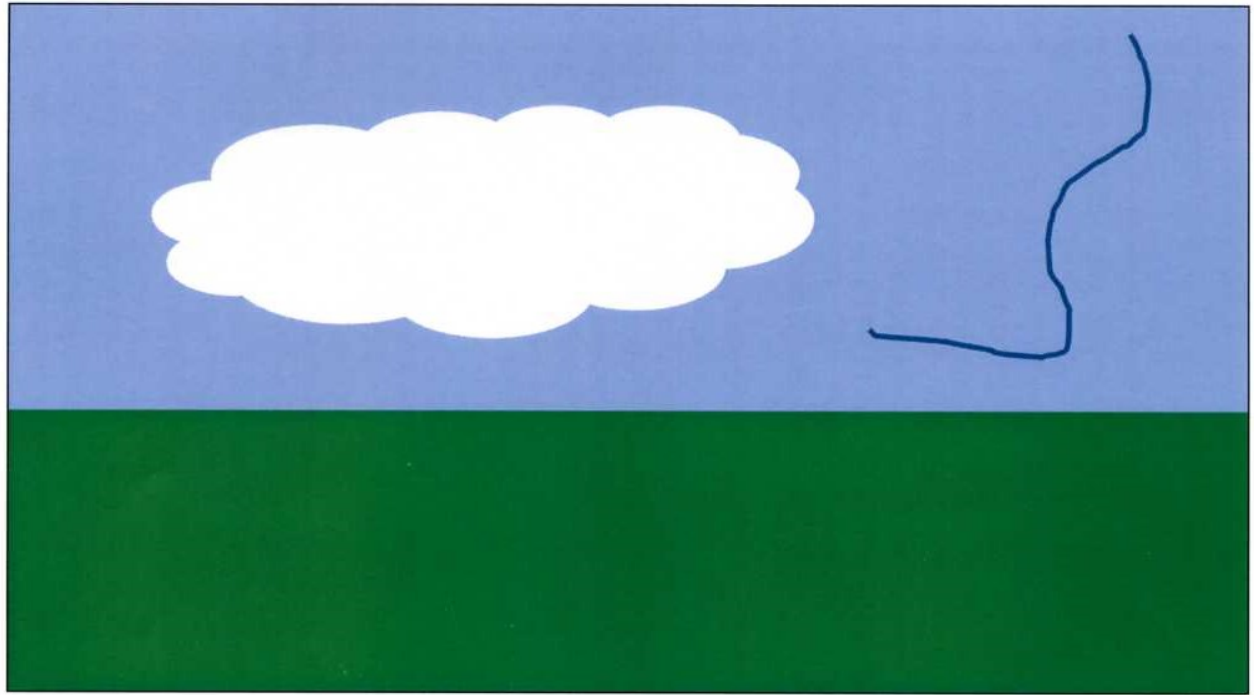

Tara Lived on 12 Petal Street, Treetown, Fairyland. Tara is a fairyland fairy. She has blue eyes, shoulder length blond hair and green spotted wings. When Tara is flying her long, blond hair bounces. She lives in a brown house with a pink door, a red brick chimney and windows shaped like ears on top of her house. If you wanted to visit Tara, you would have to have some fairy dust and you would have to say, “Tara!”

You would feel Tara's magic pulling you and you would be pulled to her, wherever she was. When you got to Tara, you would get wings!

Tara went to the beach with Dotty. There were so many fairies and sandcastles. And shells! There were blue, pink, and white shells. And the sandcastles were a beautiful brown, with shells for windows and doors!

The large blue waves lapped against the sand, washing up shells and seaweed as it went. Tara decided that she wanted to make a sandcastle. So she got some water and a big heap of Sand. Dotty got seaweed and seashells. Then they started making the castle.

It was so big that they could fit inside.
Tara almost got lost. Then she happened upon a window and fell out of the window and caught herself with her wings.

Then they made sand furniture.

Tara made a flower shaped-bed for Dotty. Dotty loved it. But soon, it was time to go home. So Tara and Dotty went home and ate dinner of apple and milk. Later, after dinner, they had cookies.

The End

Zayana lives in Massachusetts with her vinegar-loving mom, annoying baby brother, daddy, and a dog, Kingston. Her favorite color is ORANGE