

Dino Boy

You may think you know about dinosaurs, but have you ever heard of a boy named Dino Boy? He used to be a normal boy who really liked to play with toy dinosaurs. He also went to a normal school. His real name is top secret, because he does not want anyone to know his secret identity -- probably because he does not want people to experiment on him! He became Dino Boy when he was at a museum. A T-Rex tooth, which had the DNA of a Tyrannosaurus Rex on it, pricked him on the finger. Ever since he pricked his finger, he became known as Dino Boy, Protector of the Universe!!!

Dino Boy looks like a normal boy, but when there is crime, he transforms into Dino Boy. In human form, he has a suit, which is green and blue, and a red cape, which has a T-Rex and a Spinosaurus on it. His suit is ultra-resistant, which means while he is wearing it, he is immune to all chemicals, liquids, and all harmful material. His suit is made of silk titanium and diamonds. When he wants to, he transforms into his second form, a T-Rex!!! In T-Rex form, his teeth are as sharp as knives. His claws are like pitchforks, very sharp and very long. He also has a septic bite (which is like venom). He has a power which allows him to travel back in time and make things right while everything else is in slow motion. He can also bring things back from the past! If you see him in T-Rex form, you will want to run!!!

One time, Dino Boy was in a donut shop ordering his favorite donut, the triple chocolate delight. Just as he was about to receive his chocolate donut, his arch-nemesis, Extinct, burst through the glass window. He was wearing all black, with a cape that had a T-Rex skeleton on it. On the front of his chest was the letter "E". Then Extinct said, "Dino Boy, enjoy your donut, because that will be your last!" Then Dino Boy said, "Not if I can help it," and they charged at each other!

They battled inside the donut shop, breaking lots of merchandise and other items. Donuts and munchkins were flying everywhere. The pair burst through a window, and the battle continued on a nearby bridge. After a long fistfight, Dino Boy said, "This is getting boring, so let's make it more interesting!" Then he transformed into a T-Rex. When he transformed, Extinct said, "So, you think it's boring doing normal combat? Well, two can play dino!" Then Extinct transformed into a Spinosaurus! The dino battle started, with both opponents charging.

It was a fair fight -- one minute Dino Boy was winning, the next Extinct was winning. Finally, it looked like Extinct was going to win, because he had Dino Boy pinned on one side of the bridge! Right when Extinct was going to bite

About the Author

Jimmy Fanikos, who is the publisher of this book, has written many other books including "T-Rex" and "Number One Guide To Dinosaurs". He lives in Hamilton, Massachusetts, and has a very big interest in dinosaurs (as you may have guessed). He has just finished a autobiography on a place he went to, (this book is called "South Street Beach"). Also, be on the lookout for his newest series, Dinosaurs! He is 10 years old and his sister is 8 years old, (when this book was first published). He hopes you have enjoyed this book, and you should always be on the lookout for more!