

The Invisible Man

Once upon a time a man drank Super H₂O.

Oh, No! He can't be seen.

Everybody tried to help.

Are you okay?

But everybody became invisible too!

A dark spirit popped up saying "I will make you part of my scarecrow army to rule the world".

We surrender, said the invisible people.

So he took them to his lair.

Someone had a laser and everyone broke out.

"Yes", they cried!!

They had to fight the spirit.

Yes, get him.

We can be seen.

All except one.

So, they had to go back to the lair.

But it was too late!!

Oh, no!!

But the scarecrow still remembered them.

The people were going to fight the spirit when it was unexpected.

He got his body back but that is not the end.

It might be close to the end.

I said might.

The scarecrow had to figure out how to get out of the underworld without anyone catching him.

He had to find a symbol of life so he could recreate himself.

The people looked everywhere and they could not find him.

They were worried that they would lose their friend.

They couldn't give up and they did not give up.

They found their friend.

He was locked in jail.

They had a plan.

They would disguise themselves as guards, take out the evil scarecrow guards and take the keys and set their friend free.

Once they set their friend free, they still needed to get the symbol out of the evil scarecrows torture chamber.

They got the symbol, destroyed the evil scarecrow and his lair and said they would never drink Super H2O again.

The End
