

CAT ADVENTURES

Once there were five friends, five CAT friends. They were named Eleanor, Piper, Lisa, Benjamin and Sam. Eleanor was the only house cat. The rest were outdoor wild cats. Piper liked going on adventures, so she almost knew the whole town. Benjamin liked staying in the forest. Sam liked wandering around by the beach. Lisa liked to go to restaurants to find food. The five cats were close because Eleanor had brought them all together.

Eleanor called a meeting. "Meow, meow," she said, which means, "Meet me at the tree house," in people. She brought lots of food for the gang, which is one of the reasons all of her friends liked her. She brought fish, tuna, water, and for Benjamin, a bottle of milk. After they had a snack, Sam said "I'm bored!" and all of the friends agreed. Eleanor wanted to go to the forest and the others did too.

They got backpacks and packed them with the leftover snacks. They got their paws ready and left their tree house. They walked a long way until they reached the forest and then they took a water break.

Then suddenly, Lisa called out, "I see a house!" Piper said, "I see it too!" The house was old and abandoned. There were lots of trees with holes in them surrounding it. Eleanor said, "LET'S GO!" As the friends walked towards the house, they saw yellow and brown eyes peeping out of the holes in the trees. The cats made no noise at all, not even a purr. "This is kinda scary!" thought Benjamin, who was afraid of lots of things. Piper, who likes scary things, thought, "This is kinda cool!" Eleanor and Lisa looked at each other with scared expressions. Sam said, "The house looks haunted!" Soon they got to the door. Everyone took a breath, and Eleanor opened the door. They peeked in and saw...Mr. Mouse, the meanest mouse in town! He was sitting in a chair eating cheese. Mice scurried out and in holes all around. Some stopped and gave him food for no reason. Eleanor closed the door slowly and quietly.

The five friends walked away silently so they could talk about Mr. Mouse. Benjamin said he looked like a maniac who likes cheese. Eleanor thought he looked weird. Piper knew everything about mice, so the rest of them counted on her. Eleanor let Piper lead the way as they walked back to the door. They opened the door slowly and quietly. Then they saw Mr. Mouse ordering other mice around. Eleanor gasped, Benjamin fainted, Sam tried to get Benjamin back up, and Lisa and Piper purred, which means "Whoa!" in people.

All at once, Eleanor charged into the house and the friends followed.

Suddenly, Mr. Mouse saw them. "Charge!" squeaked Mr. Mouse. The cats saw chipmunks scrambling out of the trees, running to the door. Four cats pulled out their weapons (their claws). Benjamin hid. Then they pounced on the chipmunks. When there were only mice left, then Piper pulled out her phone and dialed 911. And it was "So long!" for Mr. Mouse and his gang.

The end.
